To whom it may concern:

Nida Corporation is a small business engaged solely in the development of courseware and the design and manufacture of Electronic Training Systems. For the past fifty-two years, Nida has supplied high schools, vocational training centers, community colleges, industry, and military facilities with training systems.

We operate with a published price list, that is across the board pricing for everyone. We are the MANUFACTURER AND SOLE SOURCE of the Nida Model 130ST trainers and all printed circuit boards and software used in the operation of these systems. We are also the publisher, producer and owner of all copyrights of our courseware and equipment.

Our hardware excels in ease of operation, and our (CAI) Computer Assisted Instruction is the most sophisticated electronic training software on the market today.
